TRELOWARREN

Trelowarren Estate is a thousand years of history set in a thousand acres on the Lizard Peninsular. The house was the inspiration for Daphne Du Maurier's Navron House in Frenchman's Creek and was described by the writer as 'a jewel' of a house. This unique and enchanting estate has the romance of old Cornwall and is the perfect setting to create a spectacular wedding.

Please Note: It is not possible to hold a Civil Marriage Ceremony in the Chapel owing to the regulations regarding the history of buildings which have a history of religious use.

Blessings and Celebrations

The magnificent Gothic Chapel can accommodate up to 120 guests and is a stunning backdrop to a blessing or celebration.

Completed renovations will add a further bedroom and provide accommodation for 8 guests in 2026.

Your six guests can enjoy a continental breakfast served in the Dining Room or request a removable feast to graze on during the preparations.

Celebrate

For your reception, there are a variety of indoor and outdoor spaces to choose from. The Drawing Room, or Chapel Court and the expansive lawns, are the perfect location for a champagne reception. The rustic Stable Event Space can seat up to 120 guests for your wedding breakfast and be transformed into a spacious dance floor.
